A ceremony was held earlier at Noah's Ark Hong Kong to celebrate the 29th anniversary of the establishment of the HKSAR, honour Hong Kong's first astronaut, and express appreciation to the Care Teams for their contributions to society.

The Group distributed 10,000 Noah's Ark Hong Kong admission tickets to the public through the Care Teams and more than 50 charitable organizations. Visitors can enjoy an array of educational and entertaining attractions that showcase the spirit of perseverance in space exploration while inspiring innovation and creativity.

SHKP Executive Director Adam Kwok said in his speech, "The success of Hong Kong's first astronaut, Lai Ka-ying, and her contributions to the nation's space programme highlight Hong Kong's continued progress under 'One Country, Two Systems'. I believe Hong Kong's young people possess both ambition and a strong sense of responsibility, enabling them to contribute to the country's future development."

As a public-private partnership project between the HKSAR Government and the Group, Noah's Ark in Ma Wan Park continues to evolve with the times. In recent years, it has introduced a range of space-themed attractions and activities as well as adding padel and pickleball courts to promote sports for all.
